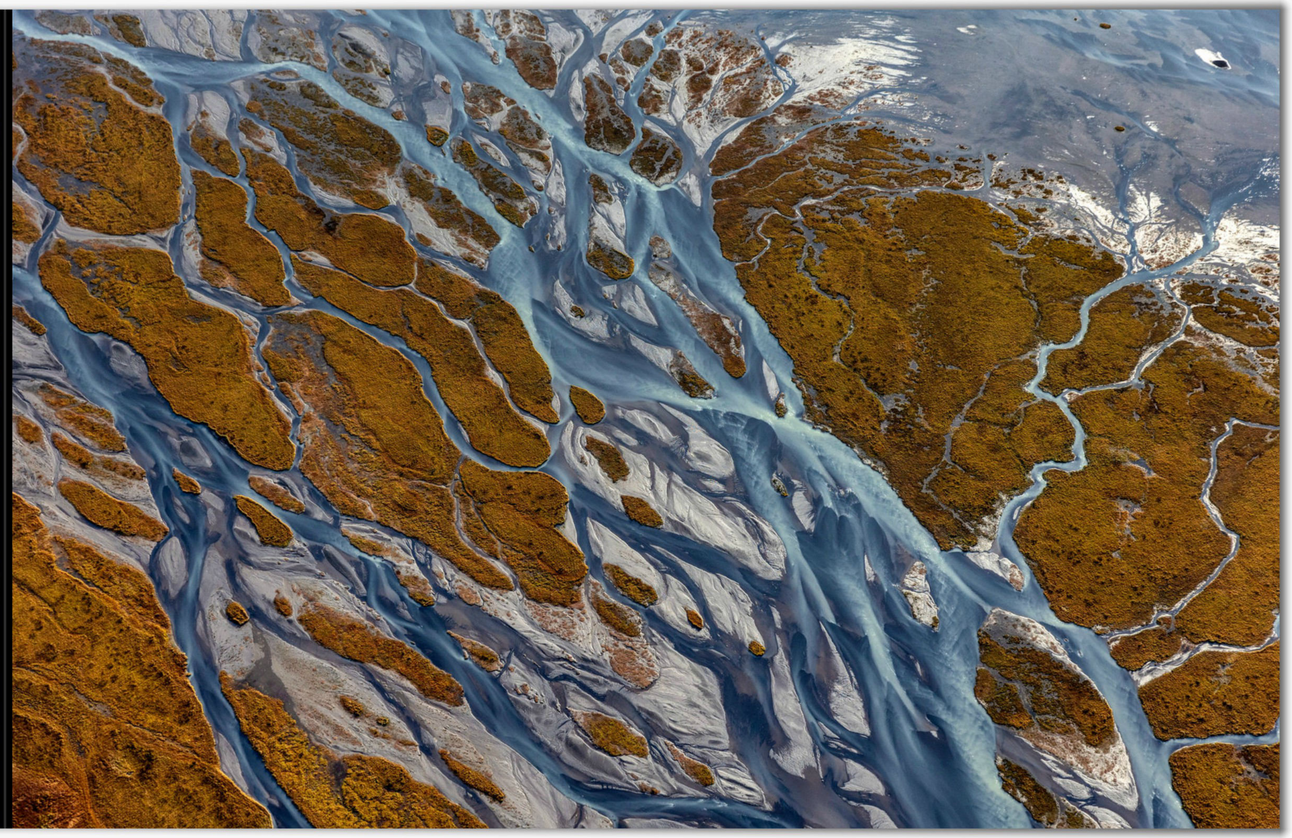
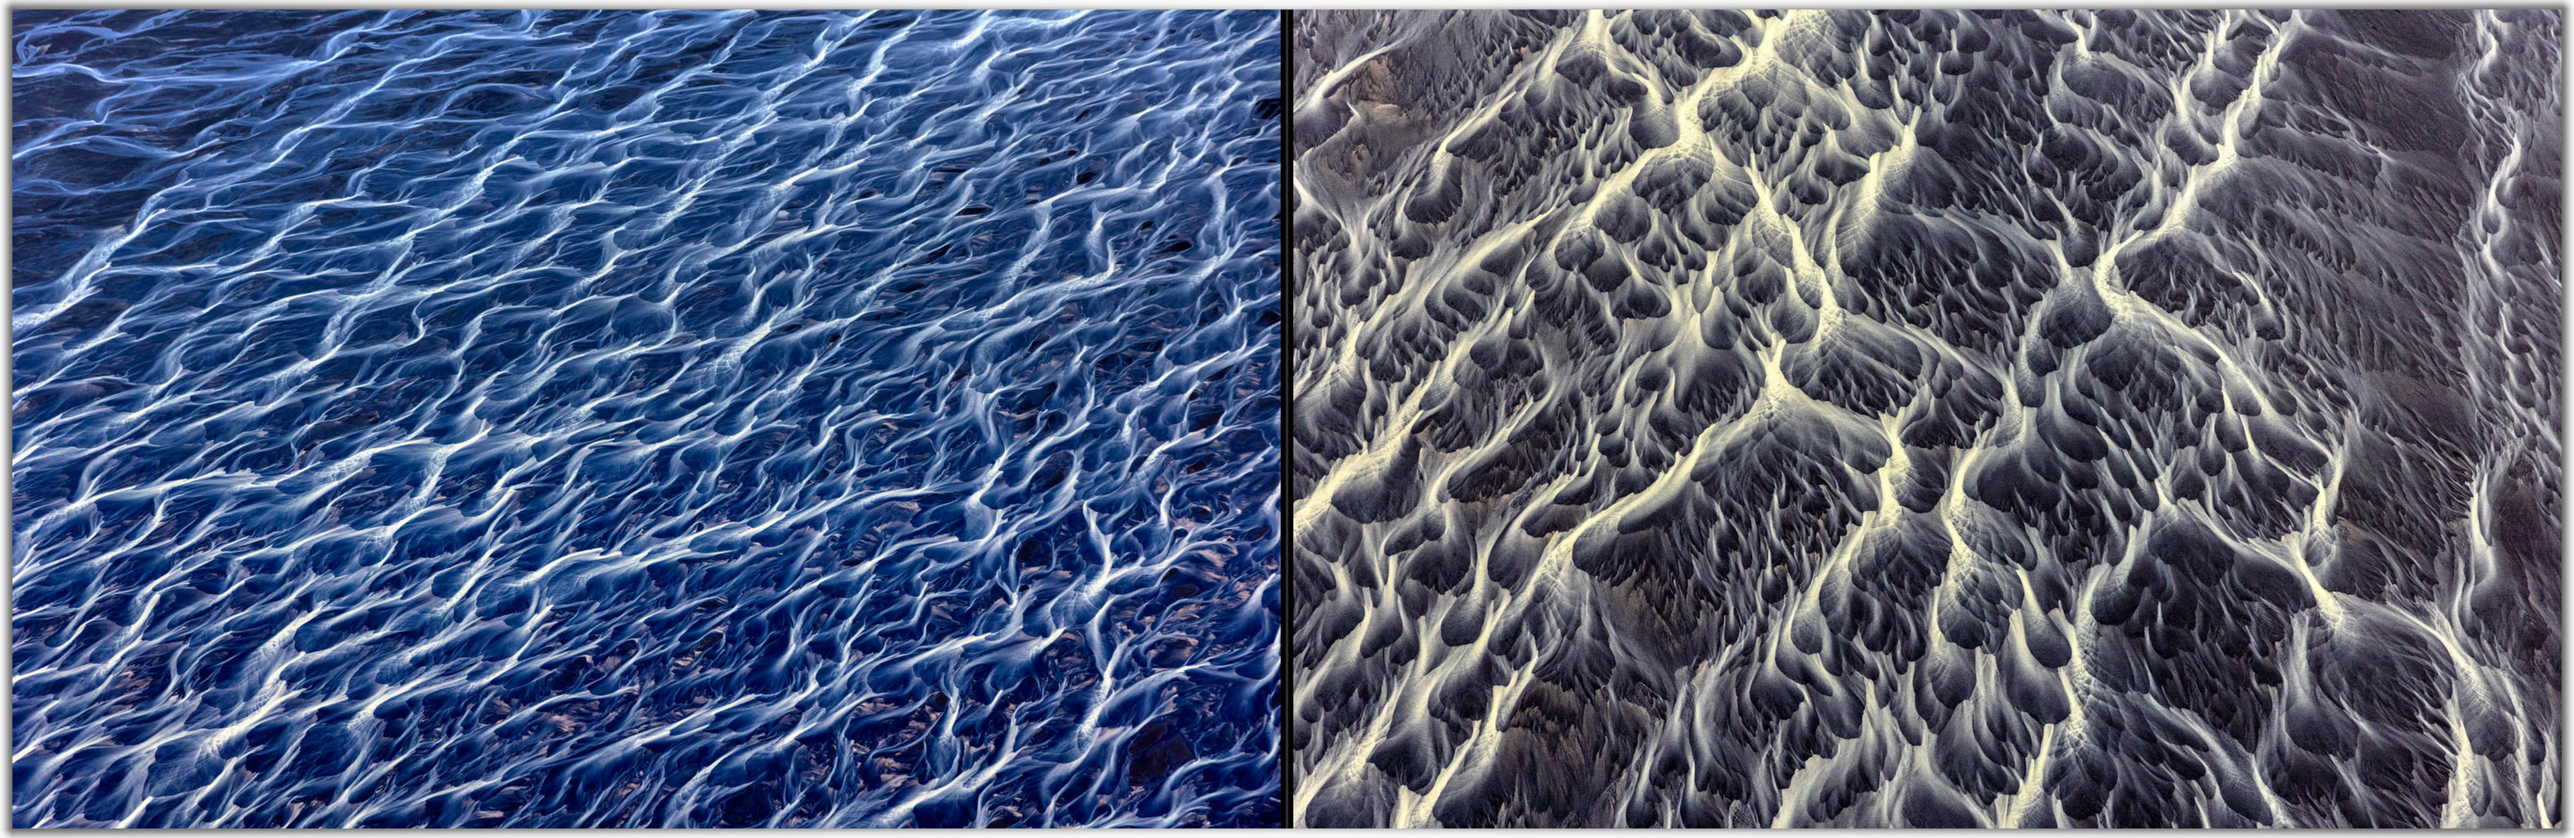
volker-strobel-photography.de

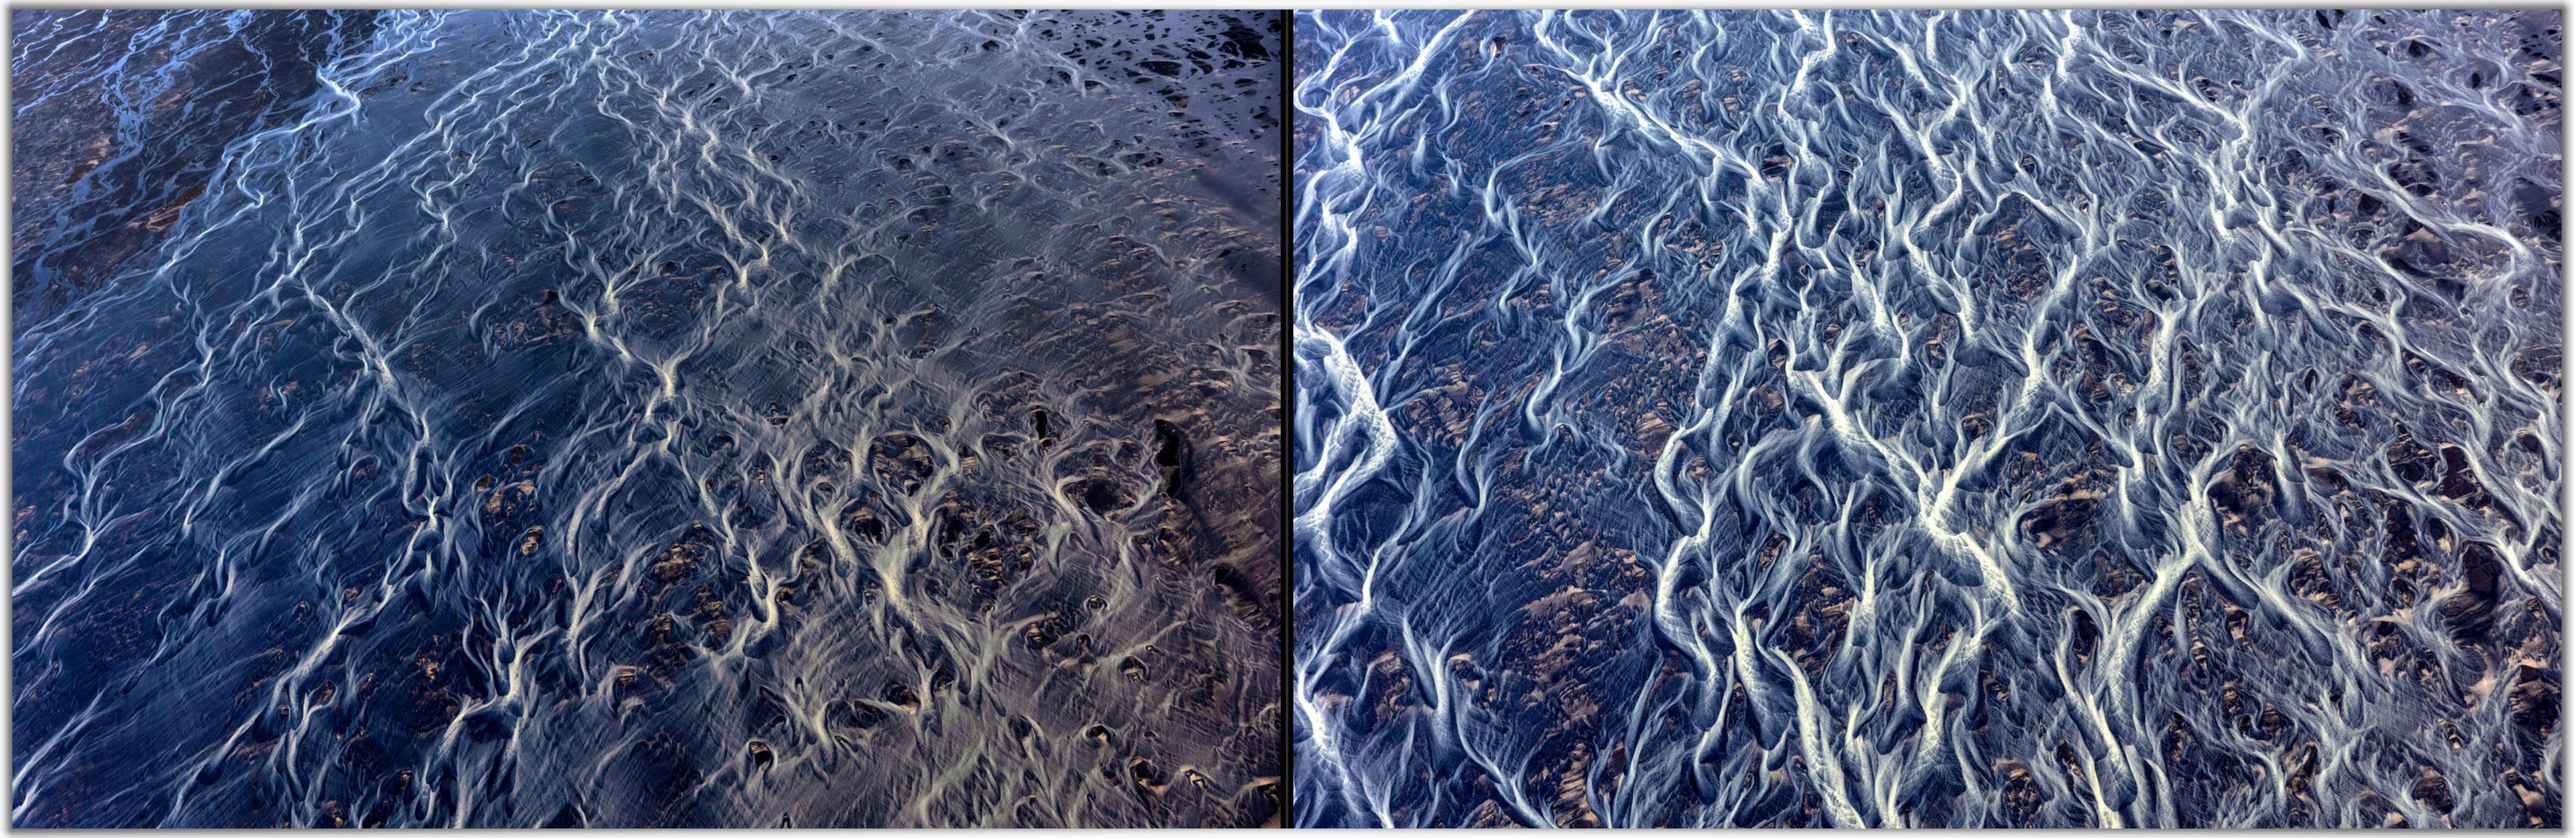
Glacial Rivers
Southern Iceland

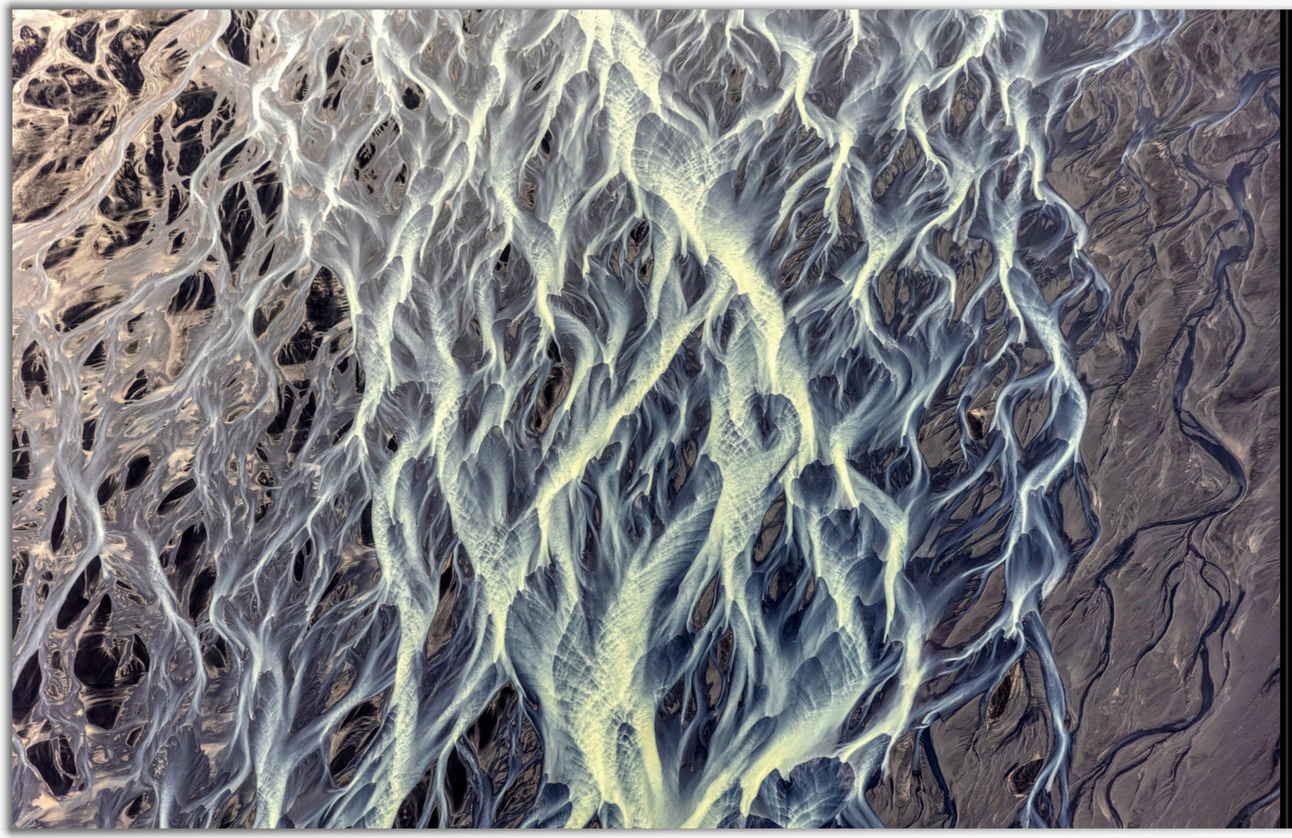
Skeiðarársandur is one of the largest sand plains in Iceland and it is situated between the Vatnajökull glacier and the Atlantic Ocean.

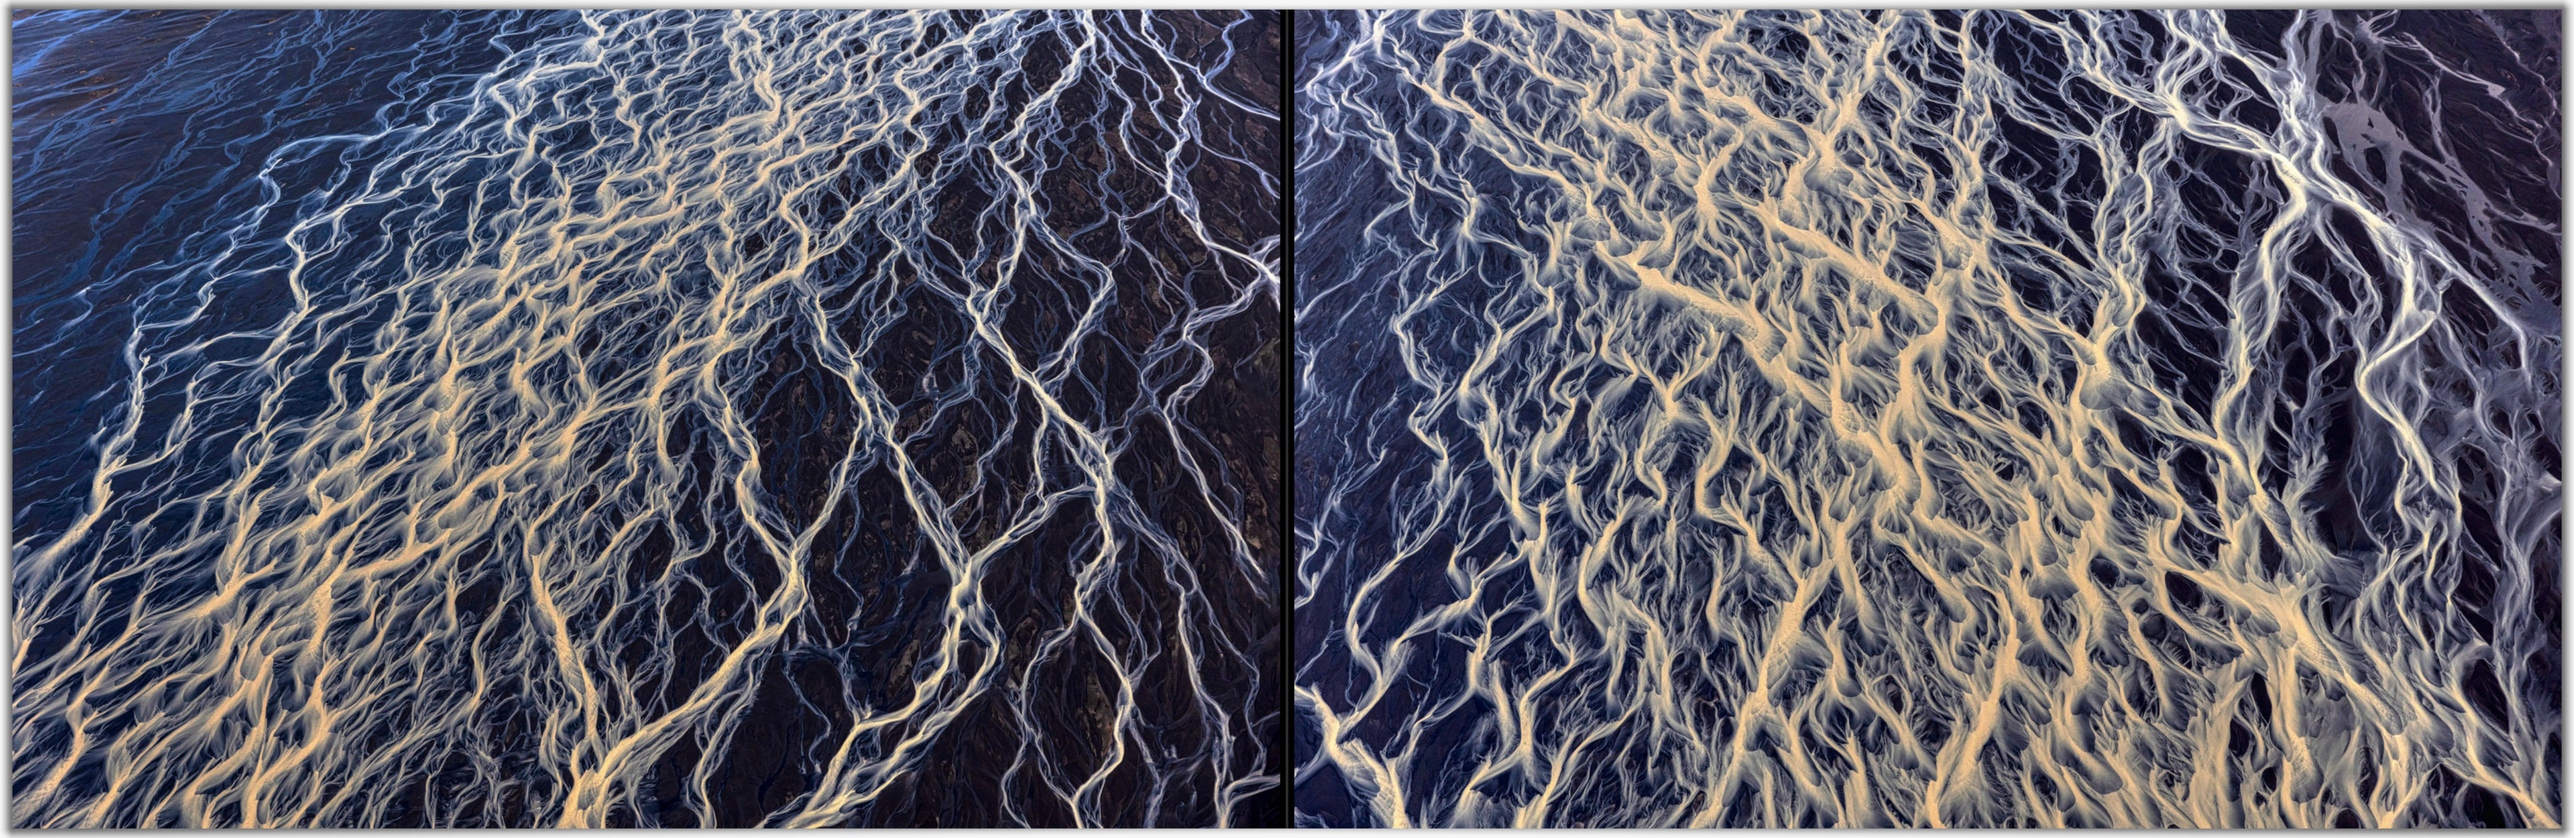
Here we flew over different river beds in a light aircraft.

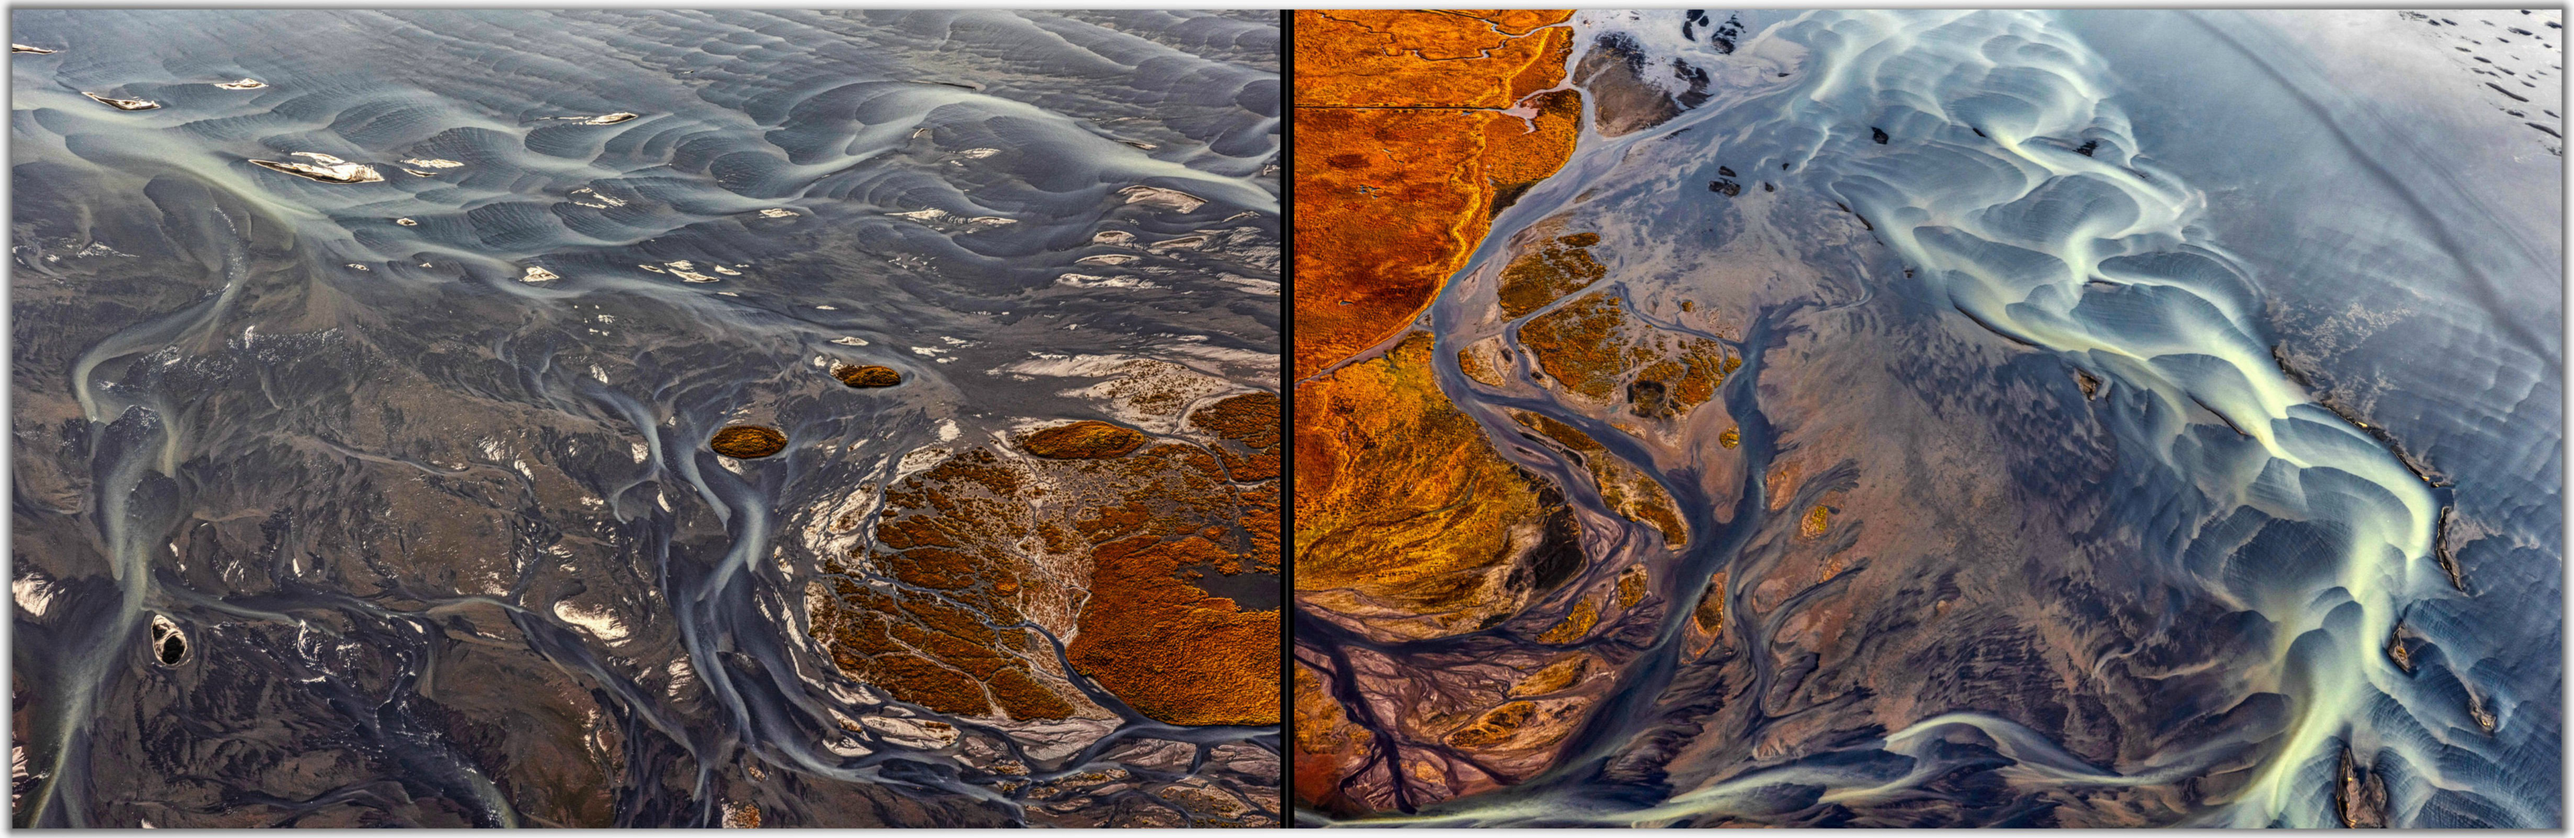
I was completely fascinated by the shapes, structures and colors we saw from above. We saw abstract paintings.


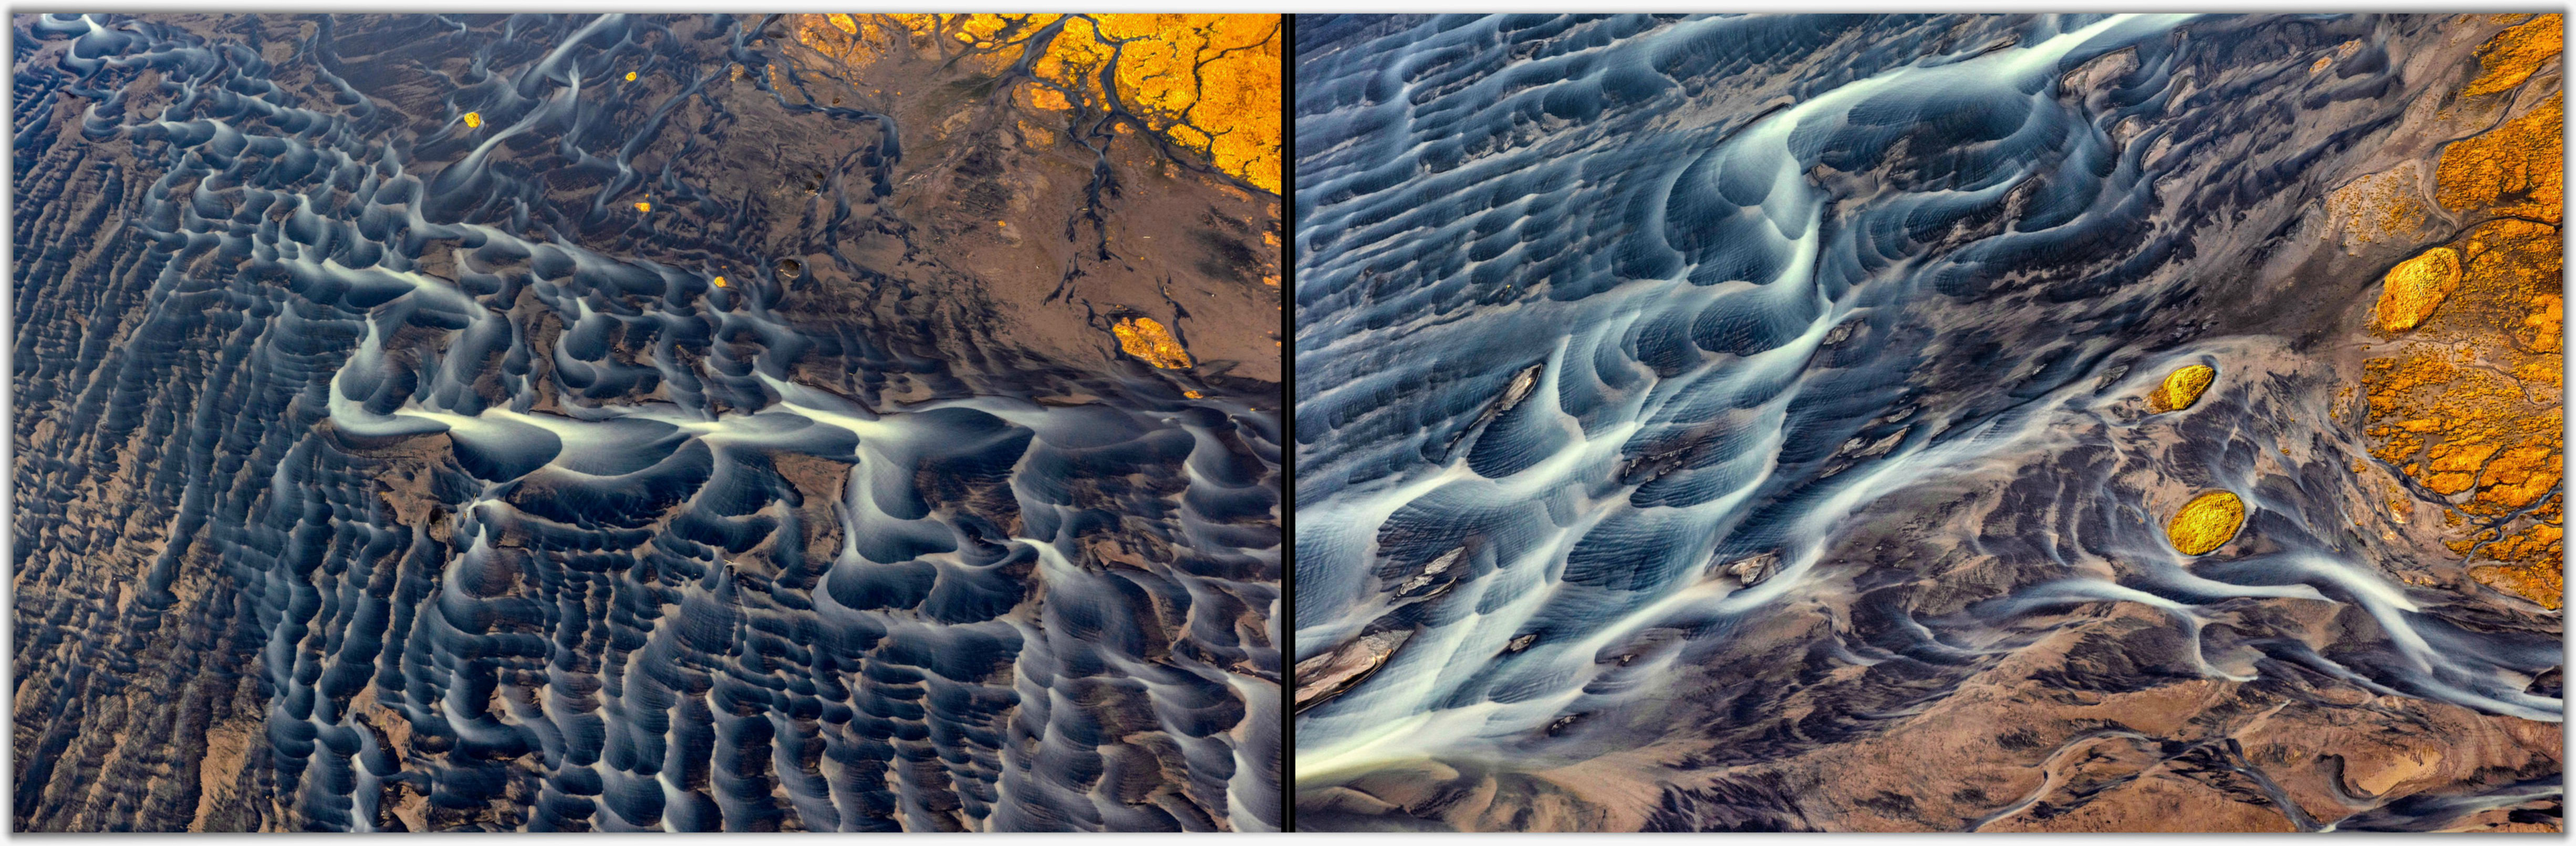


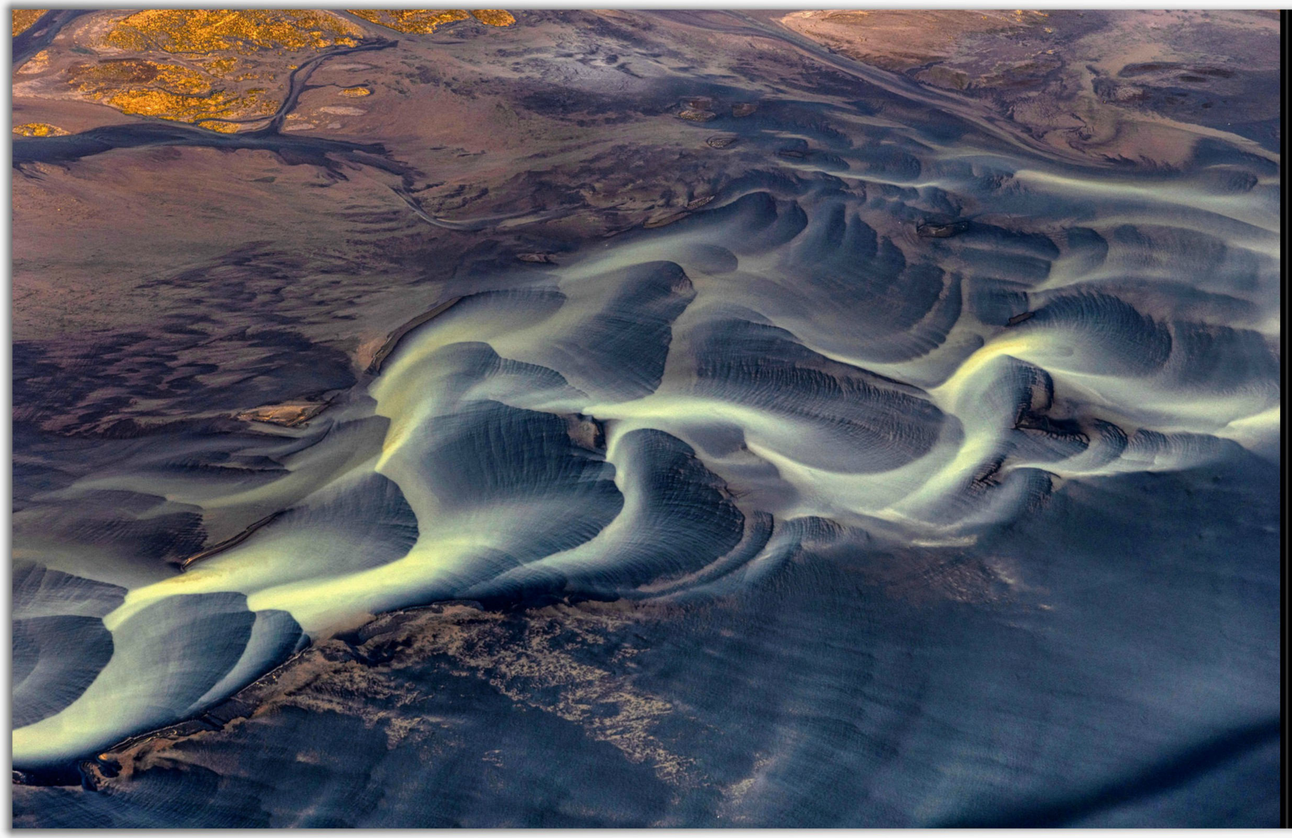


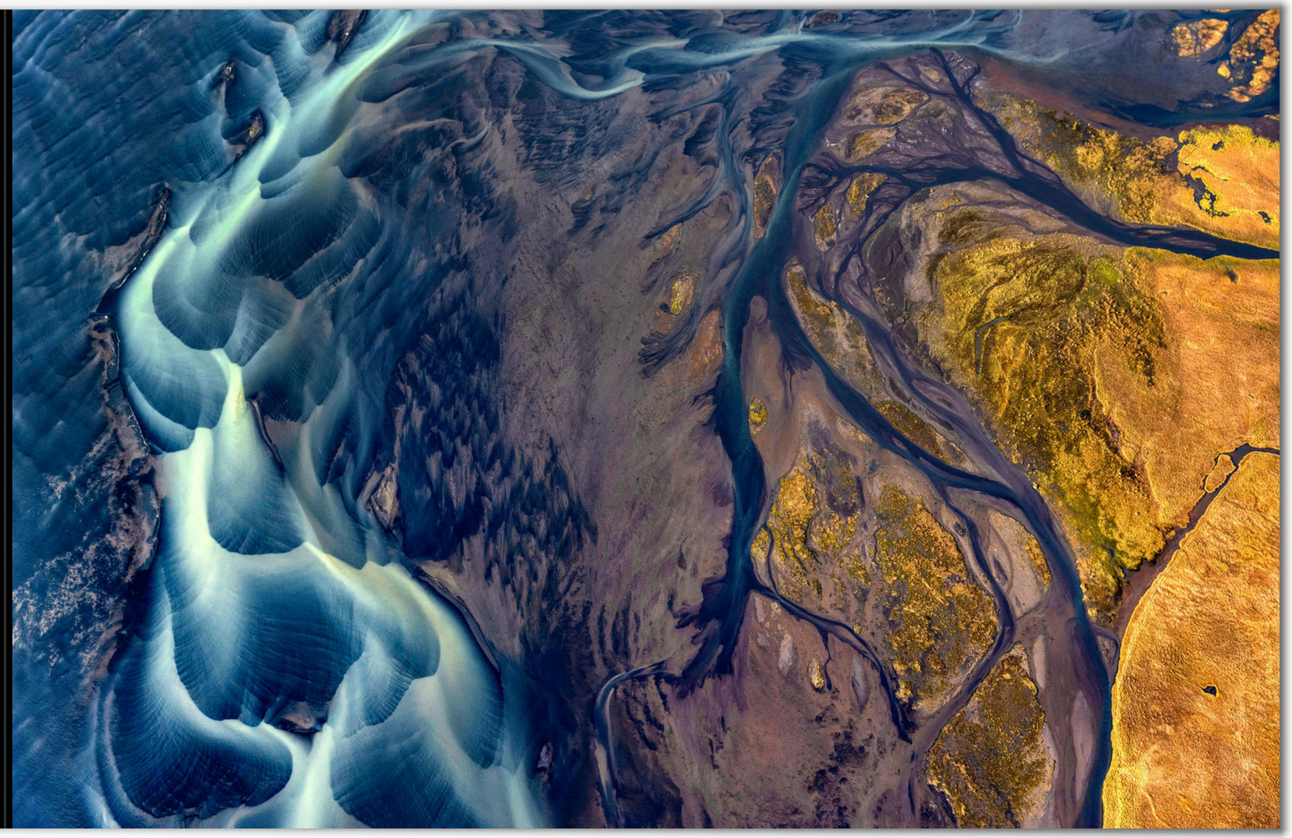


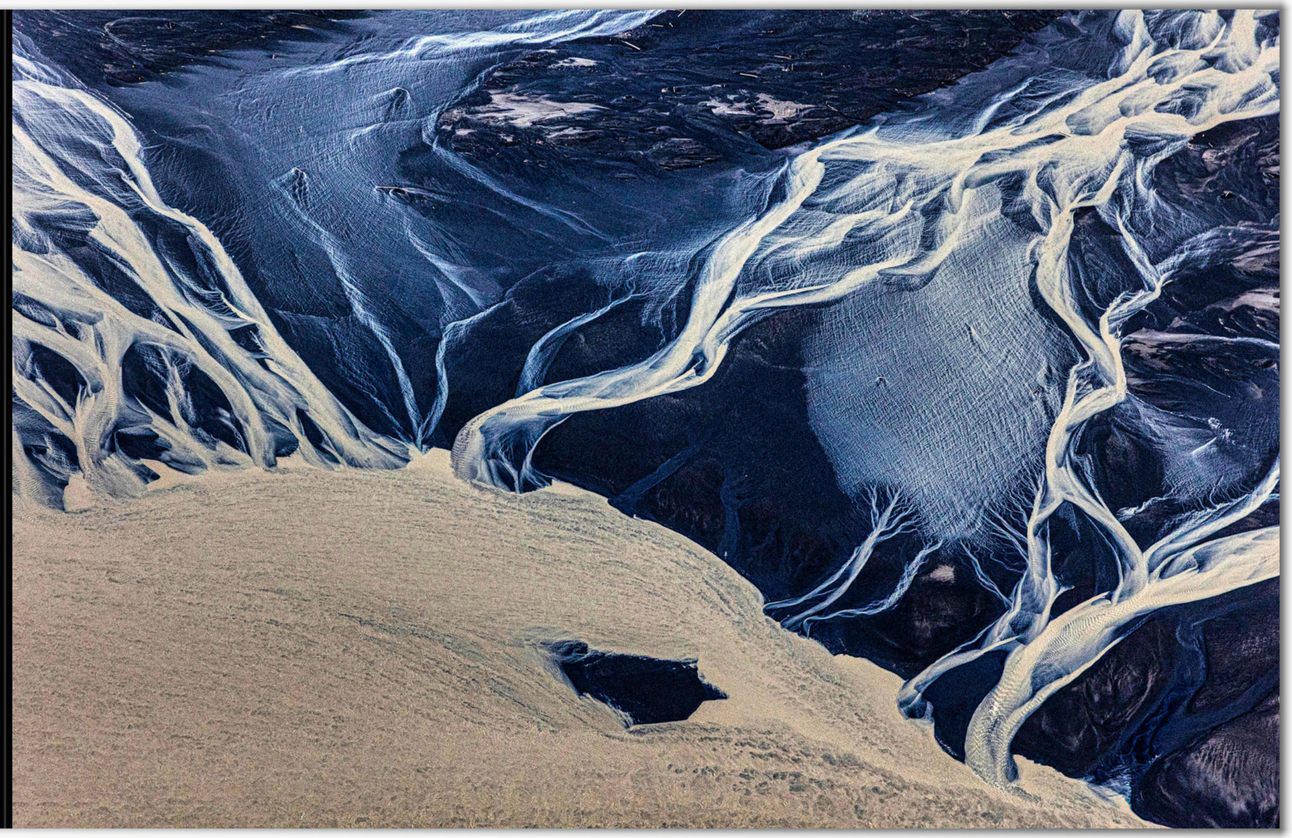


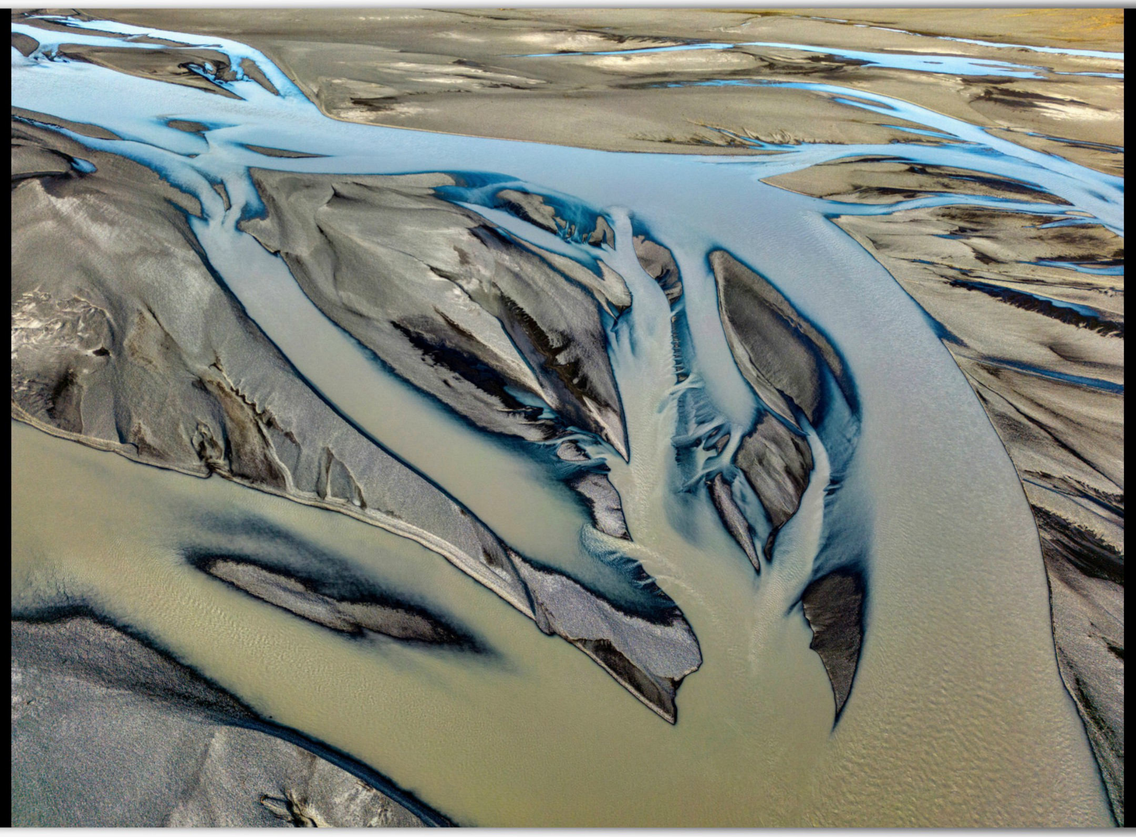


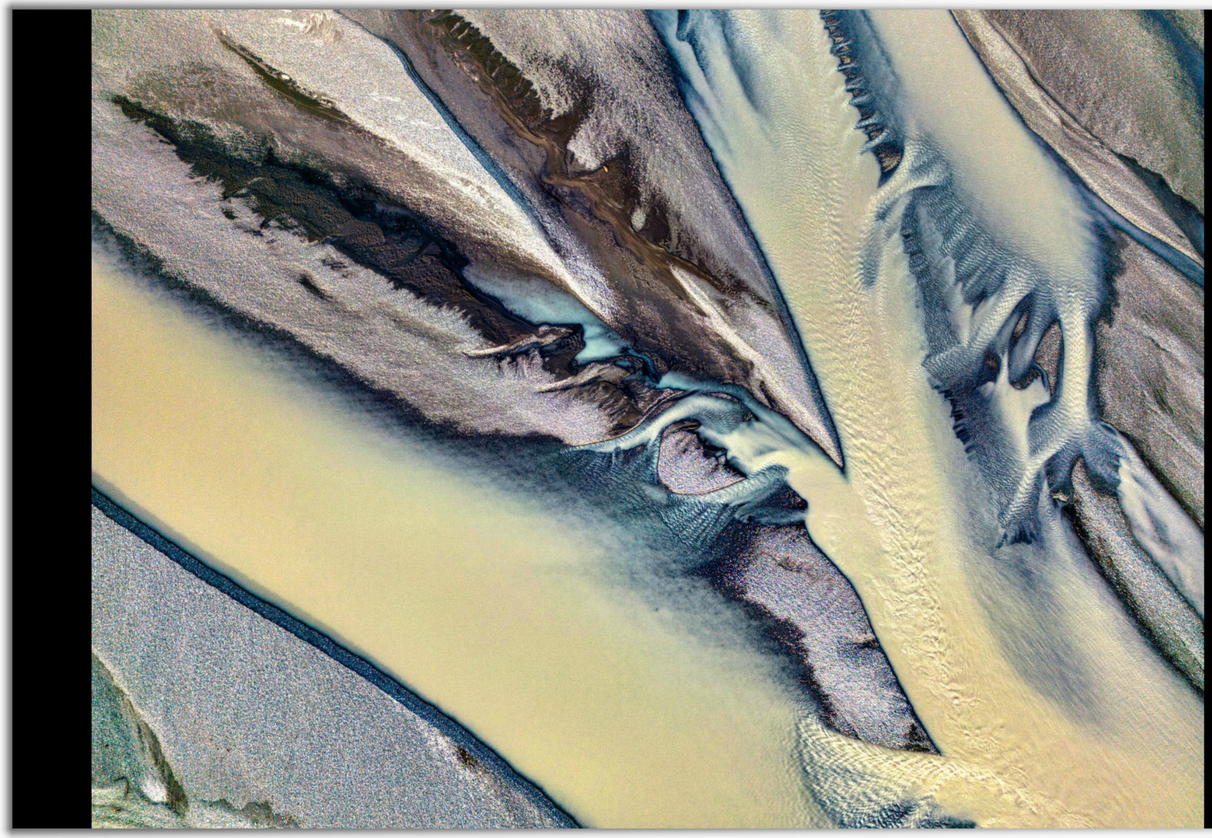


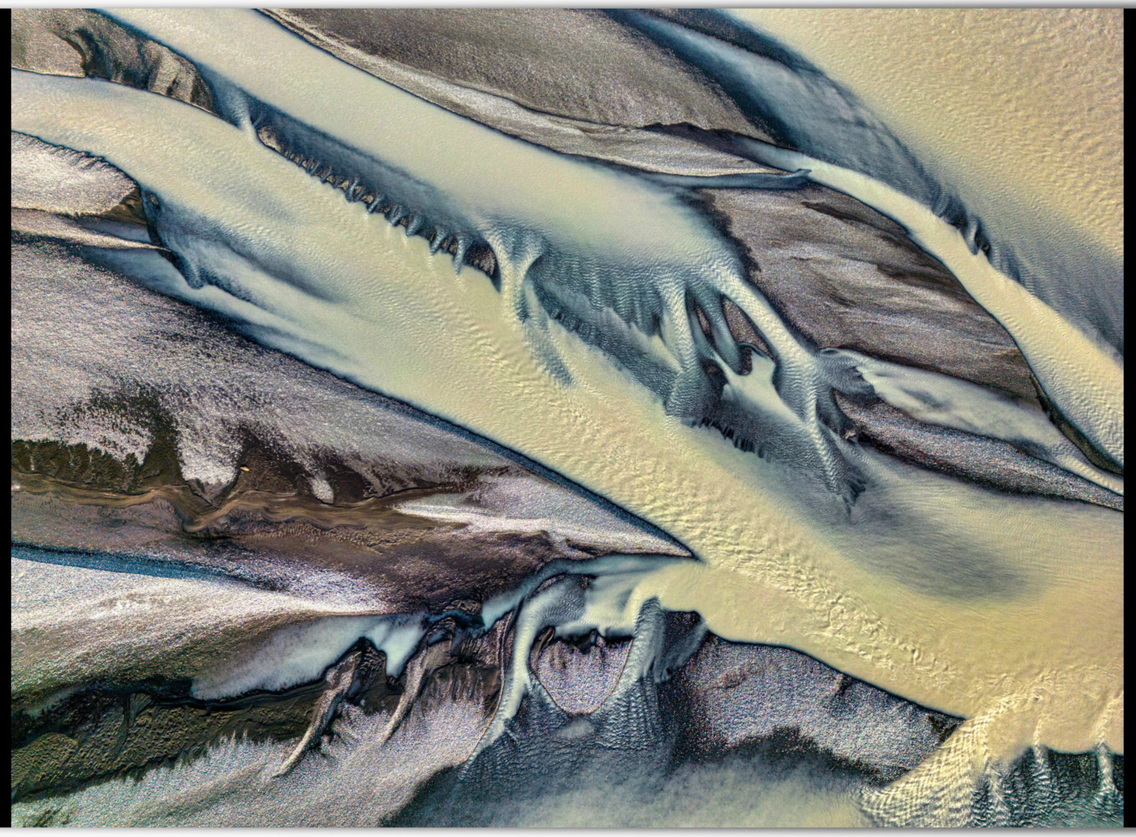


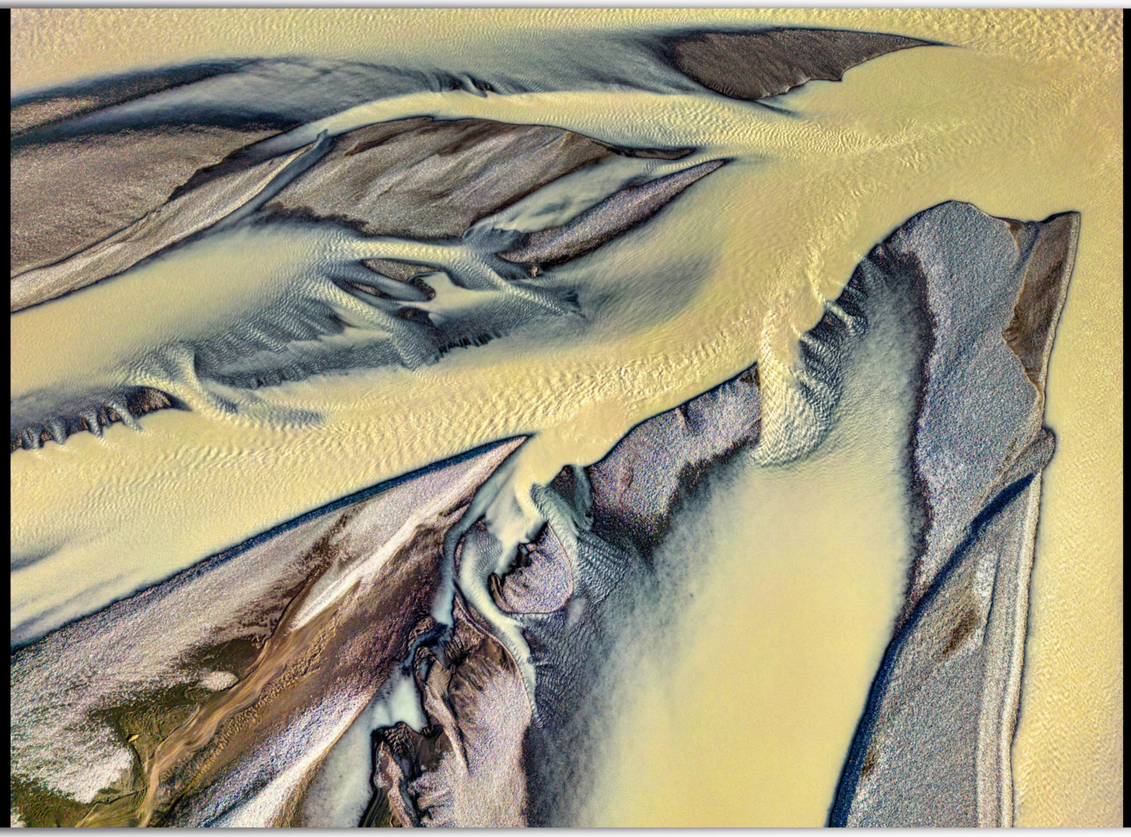












I also took photos of other glacial rivers on the south coast with a drone.